In Town interests include;

Historic Berwick & Barracks

From the earliest days of war between the English and Scottish, Berwick was an important military town. Soldiers of the garrison were for many years billeted in local taverns and private houses, which placed a heavy financial burden on the people of the town. Complaints to the Government led eventually, in 1717, to the building of the first purpose built infantry barracks in England. Designed by Nicholas Hawksmoor, Berwick Barracks were completed in 1721.

Berwick Garden Centre

Berwick Garden Centre is the most northerly in England. Started as a diversification by local farmer Nick Crabbie, it has developed into a place well worth visiting, be it for plants or other items for the garden, outdoor clothing, food and other local produce from the farm shop, or a gift from the wide range on offer.

Conundrum Farm Visitor Centre

Conundrum is a combination of a Farm Trail - animals, fish, ducks and a Pet Barn - with a Shop, Café, Award Winning Restaurant and two Lakes for the fly fisher.

Shopping Eating Speedway Library Football Golfing Fishing Walking

And much, much more .....

THE CARER—VAN

By definition, people with an Autism Spectrum Disorder, requires constant attention and in many cases close scrutiny. Providing this level of attention is extremely demanding on the individual as well as the family and friends.

Many of the regular things the rest of us find commonplace are not available to these families; things like day trips and holidays are extremely difficult if not impossible. Some respite from the constant pressure of providing day to day care to the sufferer is often impossible to find.

BAAGS has purchased a caravan on a regular holiday site, Berwick Holiday Park, which is within easy travelling of Scottish Borders, for the use of individuals, and the families of those, with an Autism Spectrum Disorder to use as short holidays and respite.

The aims of this project is to;

- To reduce the stress on the family members involved in the care and support of an autistic person.
- To allow the autistic person the opportunity to holiday in an environment that is non-disabled specific.
- To encourage families who have an autistic member to holiday as a family unit, without the fear of isolation or stigma.
- To allow autistic people and their families to holiday alongside other families.
- To allow families to enjoy a family holiday at an affordable cost, regardless of time of year they holiday.

Grateful thanks to all our funders;

Scottish Borders Council
Robertson Trust

Awards for All
Scottish Community Foundation

Gannochy Trust

And to the many individuals and businesses who pledged donations and supported our fundraising events.
